PowerLung Performance Series P617B Model

Code P617B

Based on information from the PowerLung Performing Arts Advisory Board, the Performer Series was designed by performing artists for performing artists. PowerLung products are the only products for the Performing Arts supported by evidence from independent studies proving their effectiveness. The products and accessories help the musician, vocalist, actor, public speaker or dancer strengthen and train their breathing. PowerLung is the only company to offer breathing training products that support training inhale and exhale in the same breath while teaching and reinforcing good breathing form.

Product Information

The PowerLung Performer Series P617B model is suitable for any level of performing artist who feels they are experiencing difficulty not breathing between phrases, supporting their sound or projecting their voice or maintaining good breathing form during practice or performance. This model is also excellent for the New Horizon musician who is beginning or returning to playing after an absence. Learn to breathe deeply while maintaining good form and improve your support in as little as five minutes twice a day.

The PowerLung® Performer Series™ P617B is designed for any level of performing artist who has difficulty:

- Breathing deeply and maintaining good form
- Supporting their sound or projecting their voice
- Not breathing between phrases

Each of these groups of people are accustomed to breathe control and using it to address the demands placed on their respiratory system during work of play or recovery. PowerLung strength trains your breathing muscles so they can meet the demands you place on your respiratory system.
